Reasons for allowance

1. This communication is in response to applicant's 08/29/2007 amendment in the application of Garner et al. for the "Header range check hash circuit" filed 09/08/2003. The amendment and response has been entered and made of record. Claims 1, 6, 8-10, 12-14, 19, 21 have been amended to better point out and more distinctly claim subject matter comprising the invention.
2. Claims 1-21 are allowable as evident by Applicant's amendment.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to discloses or suggest a system and method for method for efficiently searching a hash table containing a plurality of ranges, the method comprising: performing one or more preliminary range checks on at least one target value, each preliminary range check generating an output value having a value dependent on whether the target value is included in a predefined range of values associated with the preliminary range check; combining signature information with the output values generated by the preliminary range checks to generate a modified signature; applying a predetermined function to the modified signature to derive an index that references a hash-table entry in the hash table; locating a searchable data structure associated with the hash-table entry referenced by the index, the searchable data structure comprising one or more search nodes, at least one of the search nodes configured to store one or more target-value ranges associated with the target value; searching the search nodes in the searchable data structure until a matching search node is found whose stored target-value ranges associated with the target value include the target value; and providing information associated with the matching search node, as specifically recited in the claims.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
